WOODWORKING PARTNERSHIP RECENTLY DISSOLVED.

ALL "DRY" STATES TO BE DRIER.

"BOOZE" MUST BE LABLED "BOOZE" AFTER THE FIRST OF NEXT MONTH, ACCORDING TO PENAL CODIFICATON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 3. — Another phase in the great campaign against liquor will come to the fore the first of next month, when the revised penal code of the United States is to become effective . Many of the changes made in the penal code by the Sixtieth Congress were of minor interest, but the section relating to the shipment of liquors into "dry" territory contained new legislation, the result of which will be to make the United States a factor in prosecuting the violators of the act. In thickly settled communities the local authorities, as a rule, are able to deal effectively with offenders, but in certain sections of the South and in sparsely settled communities [illegible] not so easy, and the members of Congress from those sections insisted that the federal government should come to the aid of the local authorities.

[illegible] of the new codification [illegible] liquor traffic. The first important provision is that on [illegible] every shipment [illegible] liquors shall bear [illegible] consignee, the nature of the contents of the receptacle and the quantity contained therein. It is a common fact, so say persons who have had experience in attempting to drive out "blind tigers," that practically all the liquor now shipped into prohibited territory is labelled as some other commodity, or not labelled at all, and frequently addressed to parties other than the consignee.

The federal authorities have already sent out notices to all manufacturers of intoxicating liquors that their ware must be labeled on the outside of the package on and after the first of the new year, setting forth the nature of the contents and the exact amount in each package . It is believed that if the local authorities cooperate with the federal government in the enforcement of the law it will be comparatively easy to suppress the "blind tigers." It is pointed out that from now on they cannot exist without violating the federal statute, and the assumption of the Department of Justice is that would-be violators will not care to take the chance of falling into the clutches of the federal court.

It has been alleged from time to time that [illegible] of the states where [illegible] have [illegible] or [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] express companies, or other [illegible] and other person who, under the [illegible] with the transportation [illegible] various [illegible] mixed [illegible] or other intoxicating [illegible] were [illegible] from one State, Territory or District of the United States [illegible] foreign country into another State, Territory, District of the United States [illegible] shall collect the purchase [illegible] or any part thereof, before, [illegible] delivery, or shall in any [illegible] the agent of the buyer [illegible] any such liquor, for the purpose [illegible] buying or selling or completing [illegible] sale thereof, saving only [illegible] transportation and delivery [illegible]

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls fill to to joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven natural wonders.

SEABREEZE AND DAYTONA BEACH

SEABREEZE and DAYTONA BEACH, two enterprising and progressive towns on the Halifax Peninsula, are geographically one although incorporated as separate municipalities. The towns parallel the peninsula north and south for a distance of from three and one-half to four miles, and extend east and west from the surging seas of the Atlantic Ocean to the Halifax River, the beautiful tide-water stream that sets them apart from Daytona with which they have close communion by means of three bridges, as well as a half-hour ferry service.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach are essentially summer and winter resorts and are making hundreds of new friends every year among those who desire to escape the discomforting extremes of heat and cold, and their hotels and boarding houses are now receiving splendid patronage from the most discriminating class of tourists.

The mean average temperature, 80 degrees in the summer and 70 degrees in the winter, with an occasional extra rise or drop of a few days' duration, marks this as one of the most healthful locations in any section of the country, north, east, south or west.

The ocean itself, with its marvelous beach, hard as macadam and smooth as a floor, is the greatest attraction, although earth and air and sky seem to have entered into a combination to enhance its every charm. The beach is the famous automobile race course where every world's straight-away record has been made, and all these records it continues to hold without rivalry.

The sand of this famous speedway is composed largely of the shells of the coquina clam, which are about one-half inch long and very thin. For ages Nature has been rolling them up, washing them back into the surf and pulverizing them. Examined under the microscope each particle is round, unit for mortar, builders say, because the smoothness prevents its holding together, yet, strange to contemplate, the very moment a wave leaves the surf, apparently soft beach these waves particles softly down and together, forming a surface as hard as the floor of a dancing pavilion.

Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary conditions are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides beauty and healthfulness there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors.

Seabreeze boasts a handsome open ocean and a magnificent Church of Daytona Beach is a U. S. Church. An excellent high school is situated near the dividing line between the two towns.

Repairs are unnecessary, as twice each 24 hours it is entirely rebuilt by the tides. Streets and Pavements the Best and Best Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

The Fastest Autos and The Finest Out.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Frut.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River.

By L. C. DEMAREE.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artists' brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and swaying palms; see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamous forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon th beautiful surface. Take out your fiel glass and sweep the river from Ormonds bride to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these [illegible] locks of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

What text [illegible]
It is but one [illegible] of these homes which meets [illegible] comfort within they are models of convenience, and the furnishing and refurnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a stranger cause to [illegible]

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage. The entire city becomes a great park, with driveways intersecting, miles upon miles of driveways so good as to attract motorists from all over the continent.

And as for the pavements, pavements that look and act like granite, —where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? The pavement question stands with the street as one of the chief drawing cards. Till some unheard of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

The seventh world wonder, do you ask? Come, whether from Missouri or from Maine, from Kalamazoo or Timbuctoo, and you will be "shown." Here is where the world's record for speed is broken with every recurring season. Autos, the biggest, the fastest, and the finest are on daily parade and the big stock is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousands of flowing wells. It is [illegible] superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have wrought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Flowers. Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round You are reminded of Goldsmith's couplet where

Smiling spring its earliest visit paid
And summer's lingering blossoms are delayed.

In one yard roses of variegated hues predominate; another household has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane. Variety is the spice of life, the law is what you find it.

The birds [illegible] joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity, per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, [illegible] to the south with their burdens of luscious golden globes, which, for beauty, profitableness and all desirable qualities would truly astonish you.

Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "flowers and Squirrels, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare goober there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and knaw into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man raneeth not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by hoary forest giants that grew in stately grandeur during the lapse of bygone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the State of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising, and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are any number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is to be had a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable cost. Some of the finest celery grown in the State is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

New Smyrna has no bonded indebtedness and the tax levy is low.

A point that no tourist should fail to visit is the ruins of the Old Spanish Mission which stand somber and alone about one and a quarter miles southwest of New Smyrna. A good road leads to the place and the trip can be easily made by an automobile. Silent, in the great pine flats by the margin of the forest, is this place of pilgrimage for the pious; this rendezvous for the picnicker. The ruins are extensive, and while there is no authentic history of their origin, it is presumed that the Mission was built by the Franciscans in the days when the once powerful Kingdom of Spain first planted its flag upon what is now American soil. It was built of coquina, the rock being of the same material, cut into thin slabs and covered with cement plaster. Extensive gardens surrounded it, which were enclosed by a stone wall, portions of which still remain. Visitors usually come in parties merry and curious but the spell of the place soon falls upon them and they separate to sit alone, silent and meditative, under the arches or beside the ancient well.

CORONADO

Is situated on the peninsula opposite New Smyrna and is connected by a good road and bridge over the deep current of Indian River. Here you can get aside your conventional garb, breathe in large and deep the salty tonic of the sea and enjoy yourself to your heart's content with rod and reel in row or sail boat or in the ocean surf a short half-mile away. The great varieties of fish inhabiting the river and lagoon pass through the channel from the sea beneath the bridge. From verandas, upper balconies and windows you behold the magnificent river, the distant lagoons and islands, the forest-covered peninsula and the vast reaches of the Atlantic Ocean.

HAWKS PARK

A pretty village located along the ridge above the Indian River two and one-half miles south of New Smyrna and connected with fine shell roads. There is the appearance of newness, comfort and seclusion about the place which stamps it as the abode of people who come here to enjoy the blessings of outdoor life away from places where crowds are apt to gather.

Many fine residences are maintained on either side of the river, most of them embellished with subtropical flora and shrubbery, besides thrifty orange and other citrus fruit trees.

The town is very cosmopolitan, has an excellent graded school, several churches, a fine public library, up-to-date places of business and comfortable and convenient hotels and boarding houses.

Ormond has many of the Florida attractions—fine fruit, good fishing, excellent automobiling, safe boating, salubrious climate and pleasant walks and drives.

At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, Bretton Inn. The former occupies a position overlooking the Halifax River, while the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

The walks in all directions are particularly attractive, and the arbors, shady and inviting spots and romantic nooks are crowded with rustic seats which are mute invitations to enter into the enjoyment thereof.

Besides the broad, smooth ocean beach there are many drives for carriage or automobile—long drives and short drives; drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through dense tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient Causeway built by the slaves of planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of hospitable settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of these interesting plantations is Number Nine, located on the peninsula, five miles north of the Hotel Ormond. Here you see a fine orange grove, together with great varieties of other sub-tropical fruits and flowers.

Five miles further on you come to Moundgrove, one of the finest orange groves in this section of Florida. Moundgrove is on the headwaters of the Halifax River and is amid pretty surroundings. The place is reached by a good road [passing Number Nine] and is a drive all tourists may enjoy.

PORT ORANGE is a pretty little village situated five miles south of Daytona on the Daytona-New Smyrna hard-surface road, the scenic highway of the East Coast. The town is located on the Halifax River, over which spans a bridge from the town to the peninsula opposite.

The town is well laid out and has many pretty homes owned and occupied by residents and winter tourists. It has several churches, one of the best graded schools in Volusia county, two general stores, a real estate agency and two or three hotels.

A large number of tourists and winter residents make Port Orange winter headquarters, one of the several attractions being the excellent fishing. Port Orange is in the orange belt and a number of very fine citrus groves are nearby, where oranges, tangerines and grape-fruit hang in profusion. Some of the best trucking land in the State is to be found thereabout and excellent crops are raised.

West of Port Orange a short distance are the remains of the old Dunlawton sugar mill, a spot that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. At one time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast sugar-cane and indigo-plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those days but has been in disuse for thirty or forty years.

A pretty automobile or carriage drive from Daytona is via the ocean beach to the approach of the Port Orange bridge, across the bridge and then passing through Port Orange to the ruins of the celebrated old sugar mill, returning to Daytona by the road on the mainland. This drive affords a very pleasing variety of scenery.

DeLAND, the county seat of Volusia County, is situated 23 miles southwest of Daytona and is reached from the latter city by an excellent hard-surface road recently constructed.

At DeLand is located the John B. Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational DeLand is known as "The Athens of Florida."

Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South.

The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. DeLand proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida.

The predominating products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons, plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries and other fruits are grown in plenty.

In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights, a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost.

Nine houses of worship testify that DeLand is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics, besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented.

The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.

The trip from Daytona to DeLand is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to DeLeon Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute.

From DeLand automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from DeLand to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from DeLand to Lake Helen, a like distance.

LAKE HELEN

Surrounded by several pretty lakes and guarded by lofty pine trees is Lake Helen, a winter resort of no little importance. Camp Cassadaga, a spiritualistic camp-ground is situated near Lake Helen and at this place several hundred people make winter headquarters. A large lumber mill and the largest brick plant in the South are located at Lake Helen.

ORANGE CITY

The principal attraction around Orange City is the many handsome golden orange groves. The town is supplied with water said to be the purest in the world; another attraction to visitors. Visit at Orange City that passengers over the Florida East Coast Ry. transfer to carriages and drive to DeLand. The town is surrounded by land peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of citrus fruits.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell.

One of the Leading Actresses of Great Britain.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, one of England's leading actresses, has been on the stage about twenty years. Her husband is an officer in the British army who was killed in the boer war.

A Gent's Rebuke.

It was late in the year for straw berries, but Mrs. Hobson was determined to have some for Sunday dinner. Over the telephone came the news that they were "very fine indeed. Very fine indeed." Being, however, a cautious housekeeper, she decided to look over the fruit herself, as the grocer was not always to be trusted.

"They don't appear very good," she said some time later, examining carefully a basketful. "They look—there she extracted one and tested it—"they look a little green. I don't know. Just let me try one." She took another. "I guess I'll take one box, please. You don't put very many in a box, do you?" she inquired.

"There was," said the grocer respectfully, "but there's been so many ladies looking 'em over that there ain't."—

"You may give me two boxes," said Mrs. Benson.—Youth's Companion.

Lincoln's Religion.

I have never united myself to any church, because I have found difficulty in giving my assent without mental reservation to the long and complex statements of Christian doctrine which characterize their articles of belief and confessions of faith. Whenever any church will practice only so much as its new communicants understood Jesus the Saviour to require—namely, repentance of the substance of both love and peace, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and thy neighbor as thyself"—that church will I join with all my heart and with all my soul.—Abraham Lincoln.

A Lively Dance.

There was a grand ball given and Mary and Jane were standing at the door.

"Ah! is that dancin' the polka?" cried Jane in astonishment. "Sure I thought he had a flea in his pocket an' was tryin' to shake a shillin' down his leg"—London Telegraph.

KINGSTON

Among the late arrivals at the Peninsula are B. A. Poole, from Oklahoma; Mr. Anstin, of Oakland; H. A. Clark, of Maine, and M. Schumann and wife, of New York.

Miss Pearl Mobley, of Binghamton, Ga., who has been visiting friends at Forrest for some time, is here on a visit to a few days with her friend Miss Dixie Pace at Mrs. Hobson's.

FOOTBALL TANGLES.

Queer Situations That Have Developed on the Gridiron.

In the fall of 1893 [illegible] the Cornell quarterback received a kick on the head during the first half of one of the early games and was so dazed that he gave the signals for the same play eight times in succession. The rival eleven, unable to comprehend such generalship or, rather, lack of it, became just as bewildered as the injured quarterback and in the effort to understand the unintelligible let the Cornell backs through for a quick touchdown.

The calling out of numbers while the opposing quarterback is trying to give his team the signal for the next play has resulted in numerous tangles. In one of the Army and Navy contests the quarterback of the latter eleven became so confused in one instance when the Army players were shouting out various numbers while he was trying to direct the next play that he actually gave his men one of the series of numbers the Army men were suggesting. The incomprehensible signal and the subsequent mixup may be better imagined than explained.

CAPTAIN HUGO OSTERHAUS.

Captain Hugo Osterhaus, one of the best known officers of the navy, is the son of General Peter J. Osterhaus, who, after General Sigel, was probably the most famous of the German officers who served in the Union army in the civil war. Captain Osterhaus commands the battleship Connecticut.

Instructed the Queen.

Queen Victoria of England was once pulled up short by an old Scotchwoman. Her majesty and started out one afternoon to sit on a hillside and watch some of her relatives fishing in the river below her, when she found that she had no thimble in her pocket, so could not work, as she had intended, at the sewing she was carrying. Turning out of her way to Mrs. Symond's shop, she bought the smallest thimble there, which was, however, many sizes too big for her. There was an old Scotch dame at the counter impatiently waiting to make her own purchases. Not recognizing the queen, she broke into the conversation with a "Hoots, but it's a rare fuss an' fiddle you're makin'. Blow intae it weel an' it'll stick." That phrase, the latter part of the sentence, amused her majesty immensely and became quite a favorite in the royal family.

A NATURAL WONDER.

"The Blue Ridge mountains abound in natural wonders," observed an old resident of Pendleton. "Most wonderful of them all, in my opinion, is the Devil's Race Course, which is but a short walk from Pendleton.

"At first view this strange natural phenomenon appears like a broad roadway of great stones which extends away up the mountain in a path no human hand could ever build. Many of these great stones weigh tons, while others are only a few hundredweight. Lying close together by the thousand, they present an extraordinary spectacle.

"Tradition has it and scientists agree that a thousand or more years ago this strange track was the bed of an ancient river. The conclusion is drawn from the looks of the stones. They are all well rounded and worn smooth, showing the action of water which had polished their rough edges no doubt for centuries.

"But the mystery is if this theory be true to explain how the great body of water was confined at the sides, for the course is not bounded in by high banks, nor is it located in a ravine. In fact, it stands somewhat higher than the natural incline of the country. The puzzle of its interest in the quiet place and manages the arguments and the cost of its prehistoric origin."—Baltimore American.

THE ANIMAL MIND.

A Story About a Cow and the Calf She Licked.

An absurd story is cited about a cow, showing what creatures of habit animals are. This particular cow would not stand to be milked unless she could lick her calf at the same time. For a long time she always had a calf of some age or other to lick, but at last by ill fortune one of her calves died.

There is no reason why a bereaved mother should mourn her loss just at milking time, but there was the fixed habit of making certain motions. The farmer, however, was a practical psychologist. He stuffed the skin of the calf with hay and let the cow have that to lick. To be sure, the hay calf had neither head nor legs, but a cow has no general ideas concerning the nature of calves nor any special reason for assuming that calves should have heads and legs. It felt right, and it smelled right. It enabled her to go through the customary motions at milking time. Therefore it was sufficient.

By dint of caressing and licking her little calf the tender parent one fine morning unripped it. The hay issued from within, and the cow, manifesting not the slightest surprise or agitation, proceeded tranquilly to devour the unexpected provender.

Bread and Pipe Baker.

"The eighteenth century baker," she said, "was a pipe cleaner as well, just as the barber a little earlier was a surgeon. Everybody in those days smoked clay pipes, provided the same as cups or spoons by the coffee houses. Well, each morning a waiter carried his master's stock of pipes, some hundred perhaps, to the nearest bakery. The baker would boil them, then dip them in liquid lime, then bake them dry. They came out of the oven as sweet and white as new."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A MERCHANT OF FEZ.

Description of His Rise and His Ignominious Fall.

The merchants of Fez are to be found all over Morocco. In the course Ali Mahmoud transacts an immense business on a large scale. He prospers exceedingly and presently purchases a black female slave to assist his wife in her duties. Ali Mahmoud takes a house in the Medina quarter of Fez, overlooking the pleasant olive groves. In course of time he buys two more slaves and is fairly set up as a householder.

When his first daughter is born there is great rejoicing. The baby is immediately stained all over its little body with henna and then smeared liberally with butter and wrapped in woolen cloths. On the seventh day these are removed, and the child is washed for the first time. When the girl has reached her first year her head is shaved, leaving a little tuft by which Mohammed could catch her up to heaven if he were so disposed. In her seventh year her hair has grown long again. She is then veiled, and her proud father sets about looking for a husband for her. It is still the custom to betroth children from infancy.

Ali Mahmoud prospers, and, save for a few domestic troubles, his life runs smoothly. In the evenings Ali will sit and smoke in the bosom of his family. On Thursdays and Saturdays he visits his friends. They pass the time in simple games of cards or in listening to the weird efforts of itinerant musicians. Our merchant gets stout as he approaches middle age. One day his world tumbles about him. Such is the uncertainty of fate in Morocco.

He was serving in his shop when the customer suddenly raised his voice and cried out that he was getting false weight. The accusation was terrible, and Ali vehemently protested his innocence. It was an arranged charge by an enemy of the merchant, who philosophically bowed his head with the saying: "Kismet! Mine enemy has found me, and the serpent requires milk." The arbitrators are called, and, having been bribed previously, they find Mahmoud guilty and sentence him to the usual punishment meted out to givers of false weights. He is dragged to the southern wall of the city, to a place where a tall gibbet is erected. By the irony of fate it is within sight of his own house. A rope is made fast to his right wrist and hoisted up until his toes can just touch the ground. Here he is left till sunset. The idlers jeer at him, and the gamins of the quarter pelt him with stones and refuse. At sundown his friends carry him home, a poor, bruised and senseless body. Broken and disgraced, thus ended his career as a respectable merchant.—Morocco Correspondent Graphic.

Putting It Delicately.

At a cricket match played in the park of a baronet [illegible] and necessary to secure the services of the footmen as umpires. Unfortunately the baronet went in to bat [illegible] bell-covered man he espied [illegible] he and the cry of "Howzat?" was raised.

It was the footman on whom the decision rested, and he said in a half apologetic tone:

"I'm afraid I must say 'Not at home,' Sir John."

"Not at home?" retorted the baronet. "What do you mean?"

"Well, then, Sir John," replied the footman, "if you will 'ave it, I mean that you're hout!"—London Answers.

CHRISTIE MACDONALD, WHO SUED JOSEPH JEFFERSON'S SON FOR DIVORCE.

After eight years of wedded life Mr. and Mrs. William Winter Jefferson have separated, and Mrs. Jefferson, who is known on the comic opera stage as Christie Macdonald, has sued her actor husband for divorce. They were married at the home of the late Joseph Jefferson, at Buzzards Bay, in 1901, and Mrs. Jefferson for a time gave up the stage. She returned to the foot lights later, however, and is now with Andrew Mack's company. Incompatibility is given as the cause of the separation. Mr. Jefferson is touring in the south in a repertory of plays made famous by his father.

THE CAT AND THE BABY.

A Medical Opinion as to the Tradition of a Feline Danger.

Several physicians have investigated the ancient story that cats suck the breath of babies, and Dr. J. Rice Gibbs declares that the theory is ridiculous. Cats occasionally kill children, he declares, but they do it in a different fashion.

"It has been stated that a cat's nostrils are so formed as to make a perfect juncture with the nose of a baby," said Dr. Gibbs, "and that a little pressure would push them upward and make them a perfect fit. Then the cat's chin would rest over and below the baby's mouth, preventing it from opening to relieve the strangulation while the cat sucked its breath. That is all rot. The manner in which little children are killed by cats is this: A cat looking for a warm place to curl up and sleep lies down upon the chest of a little child, and, being quite heavy—many cats are as heavy as little babies—simply crushes the breath out of the child's lungs, and struggle-lation takes place, but not through sucking of the child's breath.

"The idea that only black cats kill little babies is equally ridiculous. It is simply because black cats are considered unlucky. In former times the black cat was considered the very genius of witchcraft. In those days when a baby died the blame was often fixed upon some hag who, the judges said, had sent a black cat to suck the baby's breath. And often hag and cat suffered death at the stake.

"Evil omen is still the cry in many parts of the world whenever a black cat appears on a cradle. Many persons are so superstitious that the appearance of a black cat in a sick room is considered equivalent to an announcement of approaching death. What could be more absurd?

"Mothers need not be afraid of cats, black, white or gray, sucking their babies' breath and murdering them. It is time that this popular fallacy should be exploded." — New York World.

THE BASEBALL UMPIRE.

Very Different From the Fight Referee or the Race Judge.

Good umpires are rare. In the whole country there are not more than 50 first rate ones. The combination of the keen eye, nimble brain and cold nerve is not a common one.

The umpire is the chain lightning of baseball. His decisions are rendered in the fifth part of a second. He renders them knowing that he must stand by them afterward, no matter what happens. Every man inside the fence, whether hireling or proprietor or loafer by on the house tops, sees the same thing as the referee—feels that he has a right to his own opinion, but the umpire is the one man who is paid to know what he sees.

The prizefight referee sometimes has to decide which ticket won a land lot for. He has had time in which to review the situation. The whole meeting picture of the fight stretches backward in his memory. Should the choice prove a difficult one there is nearly the comfortable middle ground to draw decision, to which neither man wins or loses. The baseball umpire can resolve to draw doubters. The race is safe or he is out.

When two pace horses come nodding down to the wire and two noses flash by the post so close together that a finger breadth means thousands of dollars to the backers, the race track judge may fall back on the dead heat. The baseball umpire has no dead heats. Watching foot and ball, he must know which one was first. He can confer with no one. Right or wrong, the judgment must be made in the twinkling of an eye.—C. E. Van Loan in Munsey's Magazine.

The Piano Virtuoso's Hands.

Contrary to popular belief, the piano virtuoso as a rule has extremely moderate sized hands. The great length of a piano pedaler is the despair of young women who harbor notions of recitals. But in reality the hand of the pianist is not an absolute necessity. Paderewski has small hands, and the hands of Rosenthal, the pianist, are positively tiny.

SAVED BY A PANTHER.

Governor Jennings of Indiana used to tell a story of his early electioneering days in which he said that a panther may be a good temperance lecturer. Colonel W. M. Cockrum repeats the story in his "Pioneer History of Indiana." The incident happened when Governor Jennings was traveling over the thinly settled hills of Dearborn county, electioneering for congress.

He met a man with whom he was well acquainted, by name Tom Oglesby, who was just getting over a protracted debauch. Jennings began asking Tom about his political views. The half sober fellow looked at him and said:

"Jen, don't you think a man just out of a panther fight ought to be electioneered in a different manner from this? I am just from the grave. I was awakened a little while ago by a panther putting leaves and grass over me. It kept this up until I was entirely covered. I lay still for awhile and then raised up and found the panther gone. I knew I was in danger, so I took my gun and climbed into a tree to see what the panther intended to do.

"In a short time I heard her coming and she had her kittens with her. Every few steps she would jump as if catching something, and the little ones would go through the same maneuvers. She kept this up until she got near to where I was, when she leaped over me and then made a spring on the pile. She looked just as I felt when I found that I was covered up for dead. She then started in to investigate the cause of my disappearance, and before she located me I shot her."

Jennings, after hearing this, said:

"Well, Tom, I believe I should treat you no one from the dead and that you should begin your life from this point. We were schoolboys together. I know you are a capable civil engineer and well educated, and if you cease drinking I will see that you have a good position on the surveying corps."

Tom evidently did quit drinking. Jennings was elected and kept his promise to his old friend, who became one of the well known engineers of the United States.

THERMOMETERS.

Testing Processes at the National Weather Bureau.

Each day at the weather bureau in Washington the thermometers received from various manufacturers through the year are tested to ascertain the degree of accuracy they show.

The various processes through which the bulbs pass before they are labeled accurate are very interesting to watch. The thermometers are placed in a receptacle and heated to the test. When the mercury is just headed to rise in the proper space it is placed into a vat filled with a compound far below the freezing point. It is then put in the pedal, where it happens to be in the cold and worked up and down until the degree of the compound is reached. Having then recorded the lowest temperature, the process of testing for the highest is begun. This is just as simple as testing for the low temperature. The bulb is dipped into a vat of water, first at 60 degrees. Then it is worked gradually until 120 degrees is reached. If the mercury in the bulb will fall one 100 degrees further testing is unnecessary, because this is a decidedly warm temperature and one seldom if ever reached by natural heat.

A thermometer the bulb of which contains mercury will not register lower than 38 degrees below zero—that is, the mercury will freeze at that point. In cold country very little use is found for thermometers showing more than 38 degrees below zero, but in the far north they are of course necessary. Such instruments, however, possess quirks in the bulbs instead of mercury, but even this fluid freezes solid when it is 50 below zero is encountered, and it will seldom show to be low. Contrary to popular belief, the piano virtuoso as a rule has extremely unattractive hands. "The artistic hand" is a phrase peculiar to the hysterical young woman who haunts musical recitals, but in reality the hand of the pianist is not at all artistic or beautiful when judged by the usual standards of the artist, the painter or the sculptor.

Constant, vigorous practicing overdevelops the hand and makes it actually ill shaped. The fingers do not taper, but are [illegible] and the [illegible] appears to be a [illegible]—[illegible] New York World.

Aggravating.

When the late General Edward M. McCook stood in Pikes Peak he once presided at a dinner in honor of a famous Indian fighter.

Mr. McCook, as he then was, concluded his introduction of the Indian fighter with the words:

"I can find but one fault with the colonel's methods. I allude to his well known custom of enlisting in his regiment only baldheaded men. To aggravate the Indians' feelings so cruelly as that is carrying war too far."

Cheerful.

A certain philosopher used to thank God when he had the gout that it was not the toothache, and when he had the toothache he gave thanks because he had not both complaints at once.

Error of the Types.

Governor Jennings of Indiana used to tell a story of his early electioneering days in which he said that a panther may be a good temperance lecturer. Colonel W. M. Cockrum repeats the story in his "Pioneer History of Indiana." The incident happened when Governor Jennings was traveling over the thinly settled hills of Dearborn county, electioneering for congress.

He met a man with whom he was well acquainted, by name Tom Oglesby, who was just getting over a protracted debauch. Jennings began asking Tom about his political views. The half sober fellow looked at him and said:

"Jen, don't you think a man just out of a panther fight ought to be electioneered in a different manner from this? I am just from the grave. I was awakened a little while ago by a panther putting leaves and grass over me. It kept this up until I was entirely covered. I lay still for awhile and then raised up and found the panther gone. I knew I was in danger, so I took my gun and climbed into a tree to see what the panther intended to do.

"In a short time I heard her coming, and she had her kittens with her. Every few steps she would jump as if catching something, and the little ones would go through the same maneuvers. She kept this up until she got near to the bed of leaves she had covered over me and then made a spring on the pile. She looked just as I felt when I found that I was covered up for dead. She then started in to investigate the cause of my disappearance, and before she located me I shot her."

Jennings, after hearing this, said:

"Well, Tom, I believe I should treat you as one from the dead and that you should begin your life from this point. We were schoolboys together. I know you are a capable civil engineer and well educated, and if you cease drinking I will see that you have a good position on the surveying corps."

Tom Oglesby did quit drinking. Jennings was elected and kept his promise to his old friend, who became one of the well known engineers of the United States.

THERMOMETERS.

Testing Processes at the National Weather Bureau.

Each day at the weather bureau in Washington the thermometers received from various manufacturers throughout the country are put through the test of standardizing them.

The various processes through which the bulbs pass before they are labeled "accurate" are easy, inasmuch as there is practically little scientific work attached to the test. When a thermometer is first handed to the man in the testing room it is dipped into a vat filled with a compound far below the freezing point. It is thrust in at the point where it happens to be at the time and worked up and down until the degree of the compound is reached. Having then recorded the lowest temperature, the process of testing for the highest is begun. This is just as simple as testing for the low temperature. The bulb is dipped into a vat of water, first at 60 degrees. Then it is worked gradually until 130 degrees is reached. If the mercury in the bulb will indicate 130 degrees further testing is unnecessary, because that is a tolerably warm temperature and one seldom if ever reached by natural heat.

A thermometer the bulb of which contains mercury will not register lower than 28 degrees below zero—that is, mercury will freeze at that point. In this country very little use is found for thermometers showing more than 28 degrees below zero, but in the far north they are of course necessary. Such instruments, however, contain spirits in the bulbs instead of mercury, but even this fluid becomes sluggish when 40 or 50 below zero is recorded, and it will seldom show 60 below.—Harper's Weekly.

Shampoo.

A mid-eighteenth century traveler, who is the first person known to have made English of the word "shampoo," wrote that "shampooing is an operation not known in Europe and is the custom of the Chinese, which I found upon the coast, to go through, and [illegible] which I [illegible] but a little. However, [illegible] elegant shampooed before I left [illegible] ever at the seat of all the different instruments." The original "shampoo," as this traveler delighted account and other objects for long after his time show, was very much what we call "massage" now. It was from India that the word really came, and it represents the imperative of a verb meaning to knead.

VIRGINIA MILLIMAN IS PLEASING THE PEOPLE.

VIRGINIA MILLIMAN CO. BEST ATTRACTION SEEN IN DAYTONA FOR MANY SEASONS.

Last night at the Daytona opera house the Virginia Milliman Co. under the management of George W. Herbert, presented Victorien Sardou's masterpiece of comedy, Divorcons, and without doubt the performance was the finest ever witnessed here. The Casino boasts of Daytona do not realize what an exceedingly clever organization of players this company consists of until they have seen their work in one of their productions. The play, Divorcons, was presented in a manner, in one of the leading and artistic successes the stage has ever seen and those who did not have the good judgment to see the play last night should not fail to go on Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m., when it will be repeated at the matinee. Miss Milliman in her work of expression convinces that she is a remarkable and young actress of marked ability. The support of the company deserves the highest praise for their excellent rendering of their respective parts. Miss Ruth Herbert, as Gaiette, Miss De Lafayette, gave a refined and artistic performance of her part and Miss Margaret Curtis, as Clarissa, Miss de Valincourt, could not have performed her part for the life of her. Miss Lucia Knapp, as Mme. Lenoir, Mme. Lenoir, was a delightful character and was well received. Miss Knapp is a clever actress and will be a welcome visitor to Daytona whenever Miss Milliman will be produced, and on Saturday night, the last performance of the splendid company, a production that has been New York's and London's greatest success will be seen. The play is Mrs. Dane's Defense, and this same high class dramatic production that was one of the greatest runs of any production seen on Broadway, New York for many seasons. Not a seat should be left at the opera house for this performance as it will be the one tonight and Saturday matinee for when so good a company will visit our city to play our theatre, every one with the ambition to attend should turn out to see the finest performance of each kind rendered.

The theatre lovers of Daytona do not realize what an exceedingly clever organization of players this company consists of until they have seen their work in one of their productions. Miss Milliman in her work of Cyprienne denotes that she is a comedienne and a young actress of marked ability. The women of the company deserve special mention for their elaborate costuming of their respective parts. Miss Ruth Raynor, as Estelle, Mme de Bronne, gave a refined and splendid performance of her part and Miss Margaret Curtis, as Clarissa, Mme. de Valontaine, could not have portrayed her part for the type of woman any better. Miss Leola Kenny as the little French maid, Josepha, played her part remarkably clever. The men, every one of them, are artists, and on the whole the company is one that deserves packed houses during their engagement here. Tonight one of the cleverest comedies ever produced will be the attraction. The play is "A Romance of a Bachelor," in three acts, and every act is a continuous laugh. Saturday afternoon there will be a matinee when Divorcons will be repeated, and on Saturday night, the last performance of this splendid company, a production that has been New York's and London's greatest success will be seen.
